DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Claims 1 and 3-37 are pending.

Claims 5-37, drawn to non-elected inventions are withdrawn from consideration.

Claim 1 has been amended.

Claim 2 has been cancelled.

Claims 1, 3 and 4 are examined on the merits.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Maintained Grounds of Rejections

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The rejection of claims 1, 3 and 4 under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention is maintained. Claim 2 has been cancelled.

Applicants' argue that "[c]laim 1 has been amended to recite...that the glycoprotein comprises at least one section of a human amino acid primary structure of CD55" and "the claims literally cover naturally occurring sequences and the recited glycostructure which reacts with SC-1". These arguments are found unpersuasive.

Art Unit: 1642

There continues to be insufficient evidence supporting Applicants' broad claims, which encompass all proteins capable of exhibiting tumor-specific glycostructure and containing the human amino acid primary structure of CD55. Furthermore, Applicants have not defined or described the section of the said structure. Applicants' specification only supports possession of one species, which is not identified by a sequence identity number or explicitly defined by structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The rejection of claim 1 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Medof et al. (J. Exp. Med. 160:1558-1578, 1984), as evidence by Hensel et al. (Cancer Res. 59:5299-5306, October 15, 1999/ reference AV on IDS) is maintained. Claim 2 is cancelled.

Applicants argue that the glycoprotein of Medof is isolated from non-tumor cells and Hensel does not disclose that SC-1 reacts with non-tumor cells, such as those referenced in Medof. These are arguments are not persuasive. Additionally, Applicants reference Hensel et al. (Lab. Invest. 8(11):1553-63, November 2001/ Reference AU of IDS, Paper number 16) to support their arguments.

The facts remain that Medof anticipates claim 1. Applicants have not provided evidence that precludes that Medof's protein does not possess tumor-specific glycostructure and capable of reacting with monoclonal antibody SC-1. Applicants are invited to point out in the specification disclosing evidence or reasoning that contradicts the anticipatory prior art. Applicants have not set forth evidence that precludes Medof's protein from having the inherent qualities of the claimed protein. Nor does the Medof reference reflect that the disclosed glycoprotein is not glycosylated or structurally identical to the glycoprotein claimed and would not inherently possess the capabilities of the claimed protein's. Hensel is listed in the rejection in order to clearly establish that DAF is the same as CD55.

The Examiner has reviewed the recently submitted Hensel paper, wherein information is reportedly found on pages 857-858. The paper does not contain the aforementioned page numbers.

5. The rejection of claim 1 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tsuji (U.S. Patent number 5,695,945, issued December 9, 1997), as evidence by Hensel et al. (Cancer Res. 59:5299-5306, October 15, 1999/ reference AV on IDS) is maintained. Claim 2 is cancelled.

Applicants' arguments are based on the same premise as the arguments listed above, as well as the proclamation that the glycoprotein of Tsuji is obtained form non-tumor human blood and does not inherently comprise a tumor-specific glycostructure that interacts with SC-1. This argument is found unpersuasive and maintained for the reasons set forth above.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP
